

Barents BioCentre

Barents BioCentre is the new high tech biotechnology centre in North Norway's Science Park Tromsø, in the proximity of Tromsø University, the marine bioprospecting centre Mabcent and the national marine biobank Marbank.

Barents BioCentre is a unique meeting place and co-operation arena for national and international business and science actors and public support programs. It is a very innovative environment with over 50 organizations and 900 employees.

Barents BioCentre is a joint initiative between business partners in North Norway, the Northern Research Institute Tromsø (Norut) and Tromsø University.

The objective is to provide the best possible conditions for development of new business and high quality employment within biotechnology.

Establishment of the centre is supported by the Troms County Development Program Troms (RDA Troms).

Barents BioCentre offers

Barents BioCentre offers 650 m² very modern laboratories with advanced high tech equipment, as well as adequate offices and meeting facilities, for rent to start-ups and established companies.
